◆ 3rd puzzle game and sequel of ≪ saicachi ≫

Last year we, Thunderbolt, were very proud to see our then, recently released, original puzzle game \ll saicachi \gg hit the 1st place in in the \ll Education \gg application category on the Google Play Store.

The title we announce hereby, inherit the praised calculation rules of our previous titles.

 \ll Ooga-Chaka \gg combines the inherited rule from \ll saicachi \gg : \ll No multiple of 3 \gg to a new fighting system arranged in a \ll clear to progress \gg stage architecture.

The player will follow a round boy (Ooga-Chaka) from a remote southern island into a trip of 60 stages where many traps and enemies are awaiting,

Furthermore, the currently buzzing, Nagoya based, boys-band \ll #Hashtag \gg will be at the center of our marketing campaign throughout the release!

Videos of some of their most enjoyable sessions playing ≪ Ooga-Chaka ≫ will be viewable on our dedicated homepage, Facebook, and YouTube!

We hope you will enjoy testing your skills on our math based puzzles while enjoying the design pop, full of characters both strange and cute at the same time!

About Ooga-Chaka

Ooga-Chaka is the name of a young boy living in a remote southern island who, by accidentally releasing ancient cursed masks in the wild, gets bound to the Guardian Mask who gives him the \ll Emotion power \gg he needs to repair his terrible mistake. This is the story of his journey throughout many islands to purify the cursed masks.

This story may seem simple and the game easy, but the challenge of this math based puzzle game is real.

Create powerful attacks by combining \ll emotions \gg of the same color together. But, be careful never to let your emotion reach a level that is equal to a multiple of 3, in which case the emotion will fade and disappear.

Your goal is to create the most powerful attacks possible to defeat your opponent while avoiding multiple of 3.

One last thing to remember is that combining two different emotions together (of a different color) will make the biggest of the two shrink down. If its level reaches 0 the emotions cannot be controlled anymore and turns into an obstacle on your field.

Once you've reached a satisfying size, simply tap the emotion to shoot it at the cursed mask you are fighting. Its HP will diminish accordingly to the level of the emotion you shot.

Depending on the stage you will have to face, enemies with specific weak points, traps, and other gimmicks that will require you to think fast and act carefully.

Under its mask of cute, pop design ≪ Ooga-Chaka ≫ is a game that holds seriously challenging action puzzle mechanics..!
